CW- Complete Withdrawals:

If a student withdraws from all classes during a semester, the grades will all be reported as CW and the term GPA will be calculated as a 0 GPA. A student's overall comprehensive GPA will include the CW semester credits as 0.0 if it is the only term the student has attended and the student has no transfer credits. If the student has attended previously and/or has transfer credits from another institution, the overall comprehensive GPA will be calculated without the CW semester credits.

Pass/Fail courses:

Pass/Fail courses are generally calculated in the student's comprehensive GPA in the same manner the Registrar's office calculates the Boise State cumulative GPA. Passing courses are NOT counted in the GPA in most instances and Failing courses ARE included in the GPA calculation. For a student with any other regularly graded courses (non-P/F), a failing grade in a P/F course is calculated into the GPA while a passing grade in a P/F course is not included.

If a student has ONLY P/F classes, the term/comprehensive GPA will be calculated in the following manner:

- If student receives ALL passing grades, term GPA equals 3.0.
- If student receives ANY failing grade, term GPA equals 0.0.

Once the student receives a grade in a regularly graded course (non P/F), the normal comprehensive GPA calculation will be used, as explained above.

P/F classes listed as CNV on the student's transcript (grades reported prior to 1999) are calculated slightly different. These passing grades will be included in the comprehensive GPA as a 3.0, even if the student has other regularly graded courses.
